

Lebanon After-Sales Service for Telecom-Grade Routers DML

AI Overview

Lebanon offers robust after-sales support for telecom-grade routers through authorized distributors like Logicom, HI-GAIN, and Cisco-certified suppliers, providing warranty, technical assistance, and local inventory. Key Distributors and Services

Logicom Middle East SAL operates in Beirut and serves the entire Lebanese market, offering a wide range of networking products including Cisco, HP, Intel, and Microsoft. They provide dedicated sales support, integrated marketing for resellers, and customized financial services, ensuring professional after-sales assistance for enterprise-grade routers. HI-GAIN, established in 1990, specializes in professional networking equipment for ISPs, WISPs, and enterprises. They maintain local stock in Beirut, enabling quick access to routers and related devices. Their after-sales services include warranty handling, configuration guidance, and ongoing technical support, with expertise in RF planning, network design, and deployment. HI-GAIN is an authorized dealer for MikroTik, Ubiquiti, Cambium, and Mimosa. Cisco distributors in Lebanon provide genuine Cisco, Juniper, Mikrotik, Huawei, and Ubiquiti equipment with a standard 1-year warranty covering manufacturing defects. They offer fast delivery across Beirut, Tripoli, Sidon, Byblos, and other regions, technical consultation for selecting the right models, and extended warranty options for enterprise clients. Payment options include secure online payments, bank transfers, and corporate purchase orders, often in local currency. Additional Local Suppliers

Other suppliers like CompuOne and Ayoub Computers offer routers, switches, access points, and network accessories with expert advice, fast local delivery, and support for both home and enterprise setups. These vendors provide guidance on installation, configuration, and troubleshooting, ensuring reliable after-sales service for telecom-grade equipment
