

Prices of Fiberglass Cable Trays and Steel Cable Trays

AI Overview

Steel cable trays typically range from $5 to $25 per meter, while fiberglass (FRP/GRP) trays are generally higher, ranging from $15 to $40 per meter depending on specifications and installation requirements.

Steel Cable Trays

Steel cable trays are widely used due to their strength and durability. Prices vary based on type and coating:

- Galvanized Steel: Common and cost-effective, typically $5-$15 per meter. Offers good corrosion resistance for indoor and moderately humid environments.
- Stainless Steel (304 or 316): More expensive, $15-$25 per meter, ideal for corrosive or outdoor environments.
- Hot-Dip Galvanized: Higher upfront cost but long-lasting outdoors, often $12-$20 per meter.

Ladder vs Wire Mesh: Ladder trays are stronger and slightly more expensive, while wire mesh trays are cheaper and suitable for lighter cables. Additional costs include installation, brackets, connectors, and labor, which can increase the total per-meter cost by 20-40% depending on project complexity.

Fiberglass Cable Trays

Fiberglass trays (FRP/GRP) are corrosion-resistant, lightweight, and suitable for harsh environments such as chemical plants or offshore installations:

- Typical price range: $15-$40 per meter, depending on tray width, height, and load capacity.
- Advantages: include resistance to chemicals, moisture, and UV exposure, making them ideal for outdoor or industrial applications.
- Installation: may require specialized brackets or supports, slightly increasing overall project costs.

Factors Affecting Prices

- Material Type: Steel is generally cheaper than fiberglass, but stainless steel or coated steel can approach fiberglass prices.
- Tray Design: Ladder trays cost more than perforated or wire mesh trays due to higher material use and load capacity.
- Size and Load Capacity: Wider or taller trays for heavy cables increase material costs.
- Order Quantity: Bulk orders can reduce per-meter costs by 20-40% .I...
