

Which company makes the most suitable cable trays for Southern Europe

AI Overview

Spina Group (Italy) and VALDINOX (Spain) are leading choices for custom cable trays in Southern Europe, offering high-quality, compliant, and tailored solutions.

Spina Group – Italy Overview: Spina Group is an Italy-based manufacturer specializing in both standard and custom cable tray systems, including ladder and perforated trays, designed for heavy-duty applications. Specializations: They focus on durable, high-performance solutions suitable for shipbuilding, industrial plants, and infrastructure projects. Compliance: Their products meet UNI EN 61537 and NEMA VE1 standards, ensuring safety and reliability in demanding environments. Industries Served: Spina Group serves sectors requiring robust cable management, particularly in high-demand industrial and maritime applications.

VALDINOX – Spain Overview: VALDINOX is a Spanish manufacturer with extensive experience in wire mesh cable trays and custom solutions since 1982. Specializations: Known for their EASYCONNECT® basket trays, VALDINOX provides innovative, high-quality, and internationally recognized products. They operate automated production lines capable of producing over 75,000 meters of cable trays per week. Compliance and Sustainability: VALDINOX emphasizes environmental responsibility, being the first Spanish tray manufacturer to obtain the Global EPD environmental product declaration issued by AENOR. Industries Served: Their solutions are widely used across Europe and America, suitable for commercial, industrial, and infrastructure projects requiring custom designs.

Recommendation: For custom cable tray solutions in Southern Europe, Spina Group is ideal for heavy-duty industrial and maritime applications, while VALDINOX excels in wire mesh and modular systems with a strong focus on innovation and environmental compliance. Both companies provide tailored solutions.
